

Let's Change the World Together!

OATS is currently building out a replicable national model for its award-winning training and community-building programs and has an expanding footprint. We are seeking corporate partners in the regions where we work to help us extend the benefits of OATS initiatives and bring Senior Planet programs to seniors in new geographies and through new digital channels.

Here are some ways to help:

I. Community Impact Sponsorships: Please help OATS maximize the impact of its network of Senior Planet training hubs in a local geography. Sponsorship will be paired with a community site to increase enrollment and maximize training outcomes. Sites will display branded underwriter materials, support volunteer engagement activities, and presentations by corporate partners on relevant topics or resources. OATS will share results and narratives of program successes and sponsorship will be recognized at a graduation event for the older adults who have completed a Senior Planet training program.

II. Content Development Sponsorships: These are direct engagements with OATS program developers on new initiatives in training, curriculum, digital content, and special events. Sponsors will choose a specific initiative and underwrite a new workshop, online content area, or short event series. Programs will display sponsor information on written materials.

III. Program Development Sponsorships: These are direct engagements with OATS program and curriculum development specialists in order to create a new multi-week course or robust set of program activities for a specific area. After the program development phase, coordinated launch events and media relations can result in strong public awareness. These are high-impact, high-visibility programs.

IV. Social Innovation Sponsorships: Like any growing enterprise, OATS requires capital to develop and launch new initiatives in new markets. Social innovation sponsors will anchor a program expansion or a target digital space. These initiatives offer powerful leveraging of sponsorship funds and will achieve maximum long-term impact and visibility. These are strong opportunities for connecting through OATS to collaborating businesses, government agencies, and philanthropic entities. In new geographies, this type of sponsorship could also include a founding partner sponsorship for a new Senior Planet Exploration Center.

At the most visible level, OATS and its leadership team are already widely perceived as an essential voice in any national conversation about seniors and technology, presenting at national conferences, corporate industry events, philanthropic gatherings, academic settings, and serving as a regular source for journalists. A formal affiliation with OATS, therefore, can increase at the levels of both perception and reality the depth of our corporate partners' commitment, credibility, and impact among important audiences in this closely-watched space.

We're here to change the way Americans age, and we ask you to join us on this journey. We know every company is unique and has distinct business imperatives, philanthropic priorities, and corporate practices. Please contact us to discuss any of these options or your ideas!

You may reach out to Kimberly Harris, Director of Strategic Development at 718-360-1707 / 917-747-4110 or kharris@oats.org to set up a time to talk at your earliest convenience.

Warm Regards,
Tom Kamber, Executive Director

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'TK', followed by a horizontal line.

“OATS has ambitious goals and accomplishes them by leveraging highly innovative and effective digital access strategies. OATS’ dynamic, transformational spirit makes it a strong partner for growth and change-oriented companies.”

— Amanda Del Balso, Google

